George Beverage, a prominent well known citizen whose home is in the Western slope of the mountain, died suddenly Monday evening. Death came by paralysis, and the stroke about warning. Mr. Beverage was, for a long time, a place for travelers, and he was remembered by the many who enjoyed his hospitality. He was about seventy years of age.

Several of the South Spruce children were at play, Monday afternoon. Ruth, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sullen, was struck in the forehead by a piece of lead pipe and received a very ugly flesh wound.

Our streets would look much more attractive and neat if property owners would keep the ugly weeds down in front of their premises. A few minutes' time in front of a home would do the work. A body said that the measure would be a thrift and the entrance of her citizens may be gauged by the amount of dog-fennel allowed to grow.

Cherry, Va., July 26.—The fellows of South-western Virginia are arranging for a big day of picnicking at Marion, on Monday at which time Capt. R. R. Hiney, grand master of the Grand Lodge will be the principal speaker. An immense crowd is expected to be present.

It is said to the credit of Highland public gatherings, it is self-evident that drunkenness and mischief, but, as a precaution, the council will arrange to have police officers for the 3rd of August. If any misguided fellow has had any misgivings on that score, he had better reconsider. Content with some of the most refreshing soft drinks obtainable in Monterey.

In Case of Fire.

It would be well to have some understanding between citizens and fire company as to action in case of fire. Every thoughtful village resident has long since found out that towns of this size are difficult to govern, and that co-operation is indispensable. Our people must not be misled by the organization of a fire company—its purpose and powers. The men comprising this company are scattered throughout the town, soundly sleeping at night, many of them busy or absent during the day. In view of all the facts bearing on the situation, I deem it best to make the following statements and suggestions:

All are aware that a small house has been erected on North Spruce for storing reel, hose and such equipment as the town has provided. To the left of the door, and on the side of the building, the key has been placed in a box with glass covering. I believe that consent from the Supervisors ought to be given to allow a key to the side door of the court house to be placed here also, and in case of fire, the latter key could be used in gaining entrance to the court house, when the bell could be used as an alarm. Perhaps a better plan would be for the council to provide an alarm bell and place it over the other building. Certainly one of the other of the plans should be adopted at once.

In the event of fire, let any citizen or citizens who may be first at the house, proceed to break the glass, open the door and get the equipment to scene of blaze, first giving alarm as may be provided for later.

This is not intended to relieve the company from prompt and speedy action, but to impress the fact that, for reasons previously stated, citizens of the town must not expect the organized company to handle the situation exclusively.

Tom H. Slaven, Chief.

MASONIC.

A called communication of Highland Lodge, No. 110, A. F. and A. M., will be held on Tuesday night, August 2nd. This is an important meeting, and members are urged to attend. A letter this week from a Highland boy, Mr. Edward C. Rexrode, of New York, says it is very hot there. On the 25th the thermometer registered 94 in the shade, and he longs to enjoy the cool breezes of "dear old Highland."

The examinations coming in conflict, Superintendent Payne placed Mr. I. L. Beverage in charge of the one being held here today—Thursday—while he is holding forth in Bath. There are but few teachers present at the Highland examination.

CONFESSES CRIME

Roanoke July 25.—Harry Lewis, the confessed murderer of Henry F. Zachary, was lodged in the city jail here last night at midnight, just one week after having murdered his companion in a cattle shed between the Casper Distilling Company's plant and Huggins town, in north east Roanoke, for his money.

While Lewis is not over sixteen years old his demeanor is like that of a hardened criminal. He does not seem to realize the enormity of the crime, which he acknowledges he has committed, nor to fear the consequences. Yesterday afternoon before Sergeant Griffin left Bristol with the young murderer, Lewis made a confession of the crime and told how it was committed. He repeated the confession this morning when seen by two police officers in his cell, but refused to have anything to say when approached by newspaper men. The reason for his silence in this connection is due to the fact that his attorney, Judge Hairston, had seen him and instructed him to have nothing to say and answer no questions.

FOR SALE—One short-horn Bull Call. Eligible to register. Uriah Hevener, Monterey, Va.

The Corner-Stone Laying.

August 3rd will be a proud day in the history of Highland Lodge, No. 110, A. F. and A. M., and justly so, since it will witness the formal beginning of the lodge's splendid new home.

From reports coming in from all quarters it now looks as if everybody will be here who can come and those who can't will send their regrets. Certainly the town is going to be prepared for one of the largest crowds she has ever had, and the outlook fully justifies the expectation.

The suggestion that it be made a picnic occasion for the entire county is a good one, and there will be scores of basket dinners eaten on the beautiful court lawn on that occasion. Arrangements are also in progress looking to the serving of refreshments during the entire day.

While all present cannot hope to get near enough to witness the actual corner stone laying, the march of the home lodge and the distinguished visitors from their room to the scene of the ceremony may be seen by all, and the presence of the biggest band ever seen in the town will be a drawing card. Aided by most of the business men of the place, the committee has succeeded in getting the Dayton band for the occasion, and they are expected to arrive on Tuesday evening. There will be about twenty pieces, some of the members being distinguished masons of the Valley.

Such occasions prolong life and conduce to amity and good-fellowship. Though the day may not be entirely filled with diversions, spent in social intercourse and an interchange of greetings, good will result.

TWO WORDS DEFINED.

Difference Between a Sanitarium and a Sanatorium. The words "sanitarium" and "sanatorium" are popularly understood to have the same meaning and are generally used interchangeably when designating or describing places of refuge for sick people, but there is, in fact, quite a distinction between the meaning of the two words. In answer to a correspondent on this subject the Literary Digest says:

"The distinction between these words lies in the fact that they are derived from two different Latin roots. 'Sanatorium' is derived from the late Latin sanatorium, meaning health giving. The term relates specially to an institution for treatment of disease or cure of invalids, especially an establishment employing natural therapeutic agents or conditions peculiar to the locality or some specific treatment or treating particular diseases. On the other hand, 'sanitarium' is derived from the Latin sanitas, from sanus, meaning whole or sound. 'Sanitarium' relates more specifically to a place where the hygienic conditions are preservative of health as distinguished from one where therapeutic agencies are employed. Hence it is the province of a 'sanitarium' to preserve health, that of a 'sanatorium' to restore it. Care should be exercised in combining the proper vowels in these two words in order to indicate correctly the derivation."

Teaching the Cutpurses.

Stow in his account of London between 1590 and 1630 depicts an interesting kind of Fagin of the time of Queen Elizabeth: "One Wotton kept an alehouse . . . near Billingsgate, and in the same house he procured all the cutpurses about the city to repair. There was a school set up to learn young boys to cut purses. Two devils were hung up. The one was a pocket, the other was a purse. The pocket had in it certain counters and was hung about with hawk's bells, and over the top did hang a little scarlet bell. The purse had silver in it. And he that could take out a counter without any noise was allowed to be a public forger. And he that could take a piece of silver out of the purse without noise of any of the bells was adjudged a judicial nypper, according to their terms of art. A forger was a pickpocket; a nypper was a pickpurse or cutpurse."

In Memory of Mr. George W. Armstrong.

Mr. Geo. W. Armstrong died very suddenly at his home near Midland, Virginia, Saturday afternoon, July 23, 1910, about 3 o'clock of heart trouble, at the age of sixty-two.

He had been in usual good health until a short time before his death, but he complained of feeling weak, and went to the house, and in a few moments he had gone to the land of rest.

He lived a good and useful life, and was always ready to lend a helping hand when needed.

The memory of him and the fragrance of his many noble deeds in life will linger in our minds for many years to come.

He was kind and gentle in disposition and all who knew him loved him. His departure has brought loneliness to his community and to his home.

The funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his home by his pastor, Rev. C. B. Sutton, assisted by Rev. O. F. Burgess, of the Methodist church, of which he had been a life-long member. Mr. Armstrong was a devoted Christian and an earnest worker.

His remains were laid to rest in the Midland cemetery beside his daughter, there to await the resurrection morn.

He is survived by his wife and four children—three sons and one daughter. A FRIEND.

Mr. Armstrong was a native of Highland, born near Doe Hill, and moved to Fauquier county about thirty years ago. He has one brother living in Highland, Mr. John M. Armstrong, of Big Valley, and there are many other relatives. He was one of Highland's sons of whom she may well be proud. Those who knew him will testify to the justice of the tribute paid him by the friend who sends us notice of his sad death. As churchman and citizen his worth was appreciated by the people of his adopted county. As father and husband he was honored and loved, and as neighbor and friend he was kind and true. He has many kinsmen in Highland who, with his immediate family, deeply mourn his death.

DELICIOUS ICED TEA.

"Make tea by putting the tea in a strainer with proportion of two whole cloves to each cup and pouring water through the leaves very slowly," says Woman's Home Companion for August. "While it is still hot, add sugar and lemon to taste. Pour again through a piece of cheese-cloth to strain. This makes it exquisitely clear and of a pretty color. When it is sufficiently cool, put in refrigerator until ready to serve. In each glass put crushed ice, two or three sprigs of mint and Maraschino cherries, strawberries or raspberries, as convenient, as well as a thin slice of lemon."

MUST KNOW PRICE

One of the matters which came up for action at the recent meeting of the State Board of Education was the question of requiring book publishers to stamp the price of each book on the covers of the volumes. The Board decided that such would have to be done by all the publishers doing business in Virginia. By this method, the parents and guardians of children attending the public schools will know exactly what they will have to pay for the books, and no imposition can be practiced upon the public.

The question of whose "Caesar" should be used was considered for the third time. The board finally decided that Guinness' and Harley's "Caesar" should be used in the city high schools and Walker's "Caesar" for the county institutions. Both will be sold at single list prices. Scott and Van Tuyl's "Latin Composition Book" was adopted to be used in connection with Walker's "Caesar." The purchase of this composition book will be unnecessary in the cities, as the Guinness and Harley book contains a composition section. Bell's Rhetorical Tablet was adopted for optional use.

Sweeping changes in the rules and regulations for the protection of public health were made by the State Board of Health at a meeting held this week. The new rules drawn up in accordance with power conferred by the recent Legislature, are more stringent than those which have been in effect heretofore, and have the full force of the law. Violation of them is punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both.

Members of the County Board of Health were appointed as follows: A. C. Judy, Doctors C. B. Fox, J. L. Sheppe and H. H. Jones.

ATTENTION—I wish to announce that the bath house and pool at Bolar Springs has been greatly improved in every particular. The bathing pool is 25x50 feet and can be made six feet deep. The building is so constructed as to keep all draft away while bathing. Respectfully, A. G. McGuffin, Prop.
